Did You Know?

- Originally, children age 8 and older lived on Ometepe Island and those under age 7 lived in San Jorge on the mainland. An earthquake and volcanic activity on the island caused a temporary evacuation of the home in August 2005, and due to ongoing safety concerns, new property was acquired. The new site, Casa Padre Wasson, opened in December 2011.
- The farms have a variety of fruits and vegetables, as well as chickens, cows, fish and pigs.
- The wastewater treatment system works without electricity or chemicals and the treated water is used for irrigation of green areas, gardens and agricultural programs.
- The vocational workshops offer certification in shoe-making, sewing, residential electricity, welding, computers, and English.
- The Good Samaritan Program provides medical services and therapies to children living with disabilities, and counseling and tutoring for parents so they may provide quality care for their children. ▶
- The Family Growing Program supports the children in the NPH school who have no place to go after classes or on Saturdays. Classes in art, folkloric music, botany, and sports help these students develop intellectually and protect them from the potential dangers of being home alone without parental care.
- Community outreach, including training parents, and workshops on decorative arrangement and crafts, was expanded in 2023.
- The NPH school had enrolled 259 students, all coming from nearby communities, in 2023. By the end of the school year, 187 students graduated at various levels, ranging from preschool to university. This accomplishment is a major source of pride and indicator of future success for these children and families.
